Food parcels on going to those who are very critical, to those who can not stand by themselves

Vulnerable orphans will receive exercise and text books.

Volunteers are demonstrating in the community how to cook very nutritious meals without waste.

Agricultural work in our fields, a second sowing of seed was done by faith, because the first harvests' results were poor due to climate changes and storms. Watered gardens do grow better than fields with poor rainfall.

Carlos, and all the Rubatano Volunteers.

[Editor: Apologies to readers: Very very very few in Rubatano have cameras (definitely not smartphones), or know how to take a good picture, so Carlos is the only one taking these good useable photos with his camera. With all the business of Rubatano to organize, it is not possible for him to go regularly with the Volunteers on their weekly visits to all the poor widow & orphan homes. He is trying to train someone else to take photos.]
